Foreword

High School years are the time when you formulate or build a pattern for your future life. Your academic and social life while in school play a major role in determining your future. Many times you will wonder whether the future will be as memorable as the past. You will wonder whether you will be able to shoulder the responsibilities and measure up to what is expected of you. But, as you look to the future, so will you want to remember the past experiences that have lead to the future life. This pictorial history of life will retrace your high school years and make you relive your life at Guilderland Central High School.

School friends, whether classmates, administration or those you met while at work, will always have a place in each graduates heart. School activities, sports events, class activities such as Junior and Senior Prom, will be remembered as you look back to those high school years, as illustrated on the following pages.

As you move into the future, you will want to take an occasional look to the past, at the things you have done, and the friends who did them with you. The 1960 Tawasenthan will recall to you "those years to be remembered."

Principal's Message

What have you accomplished thus far? The first answer that may come to your mind is graduation from senior high school. This in itself is noteworthy. However, millions of other high school students can claim the same distinction this year. The important thing is not that you graduate, but how?

Did you develop an inquiring mind that will lead you to seek out the answers to problems? Did you learn how to use books, teachers, authorities, newspapers, magazines and personal observation in gaining answers to these problems? Did you learn to plan your work so that you could complete term projects and yet have time left for the dance, of chess club, or basketball game? Did you learn how to work with people? Did you learn your responsibilities as a member in a democratic society? Did you learn the importance of a sound and healthy mind and body? Did you find what you thought was your level of performance and then work just a little harder? Did you learn how to convey ideas by both written and oral expression?

If you can honestly answer "Yes" to these eight questions, you have achieved much more than graduation from high school. You have built a firm foundation for your future.

In this age of rapid change, new discoveries may make today's facts untrue. We cannot foresee the world you will live in during the next fifty years. We know it will be different. We hope we have prepared you to face the differences you will encounter. We hope we have helped your future by adequately preparing you for the years that lie ahead.

Mr. Hutson prepares future tax experts.

Mrs. Serviss has their full attention -- almost!

Mr. Sawyer offers advice on tabulations.

A helping hand is provided by Mr. Jewell.

Mrs. Andreone with some future homemakers.

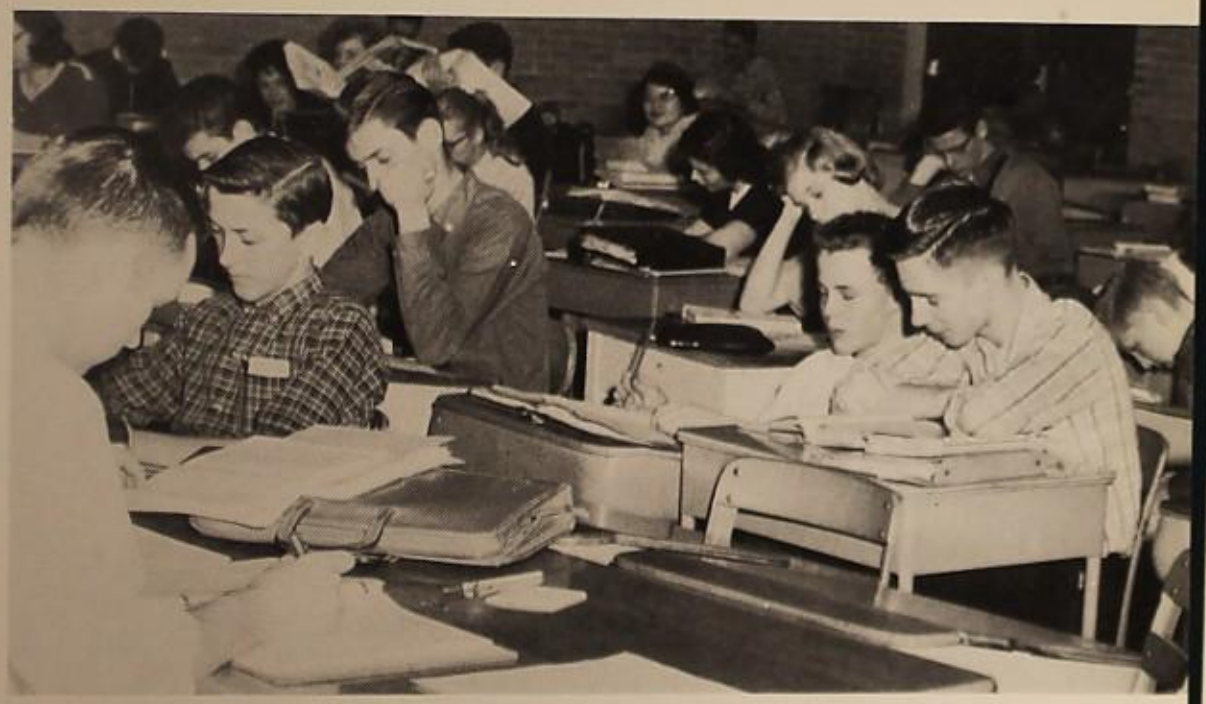
Mrs. Buchwald seems to have made a thought-provoking statement.

A few words of humor by Mr. Kranz.

Remember this work of art?

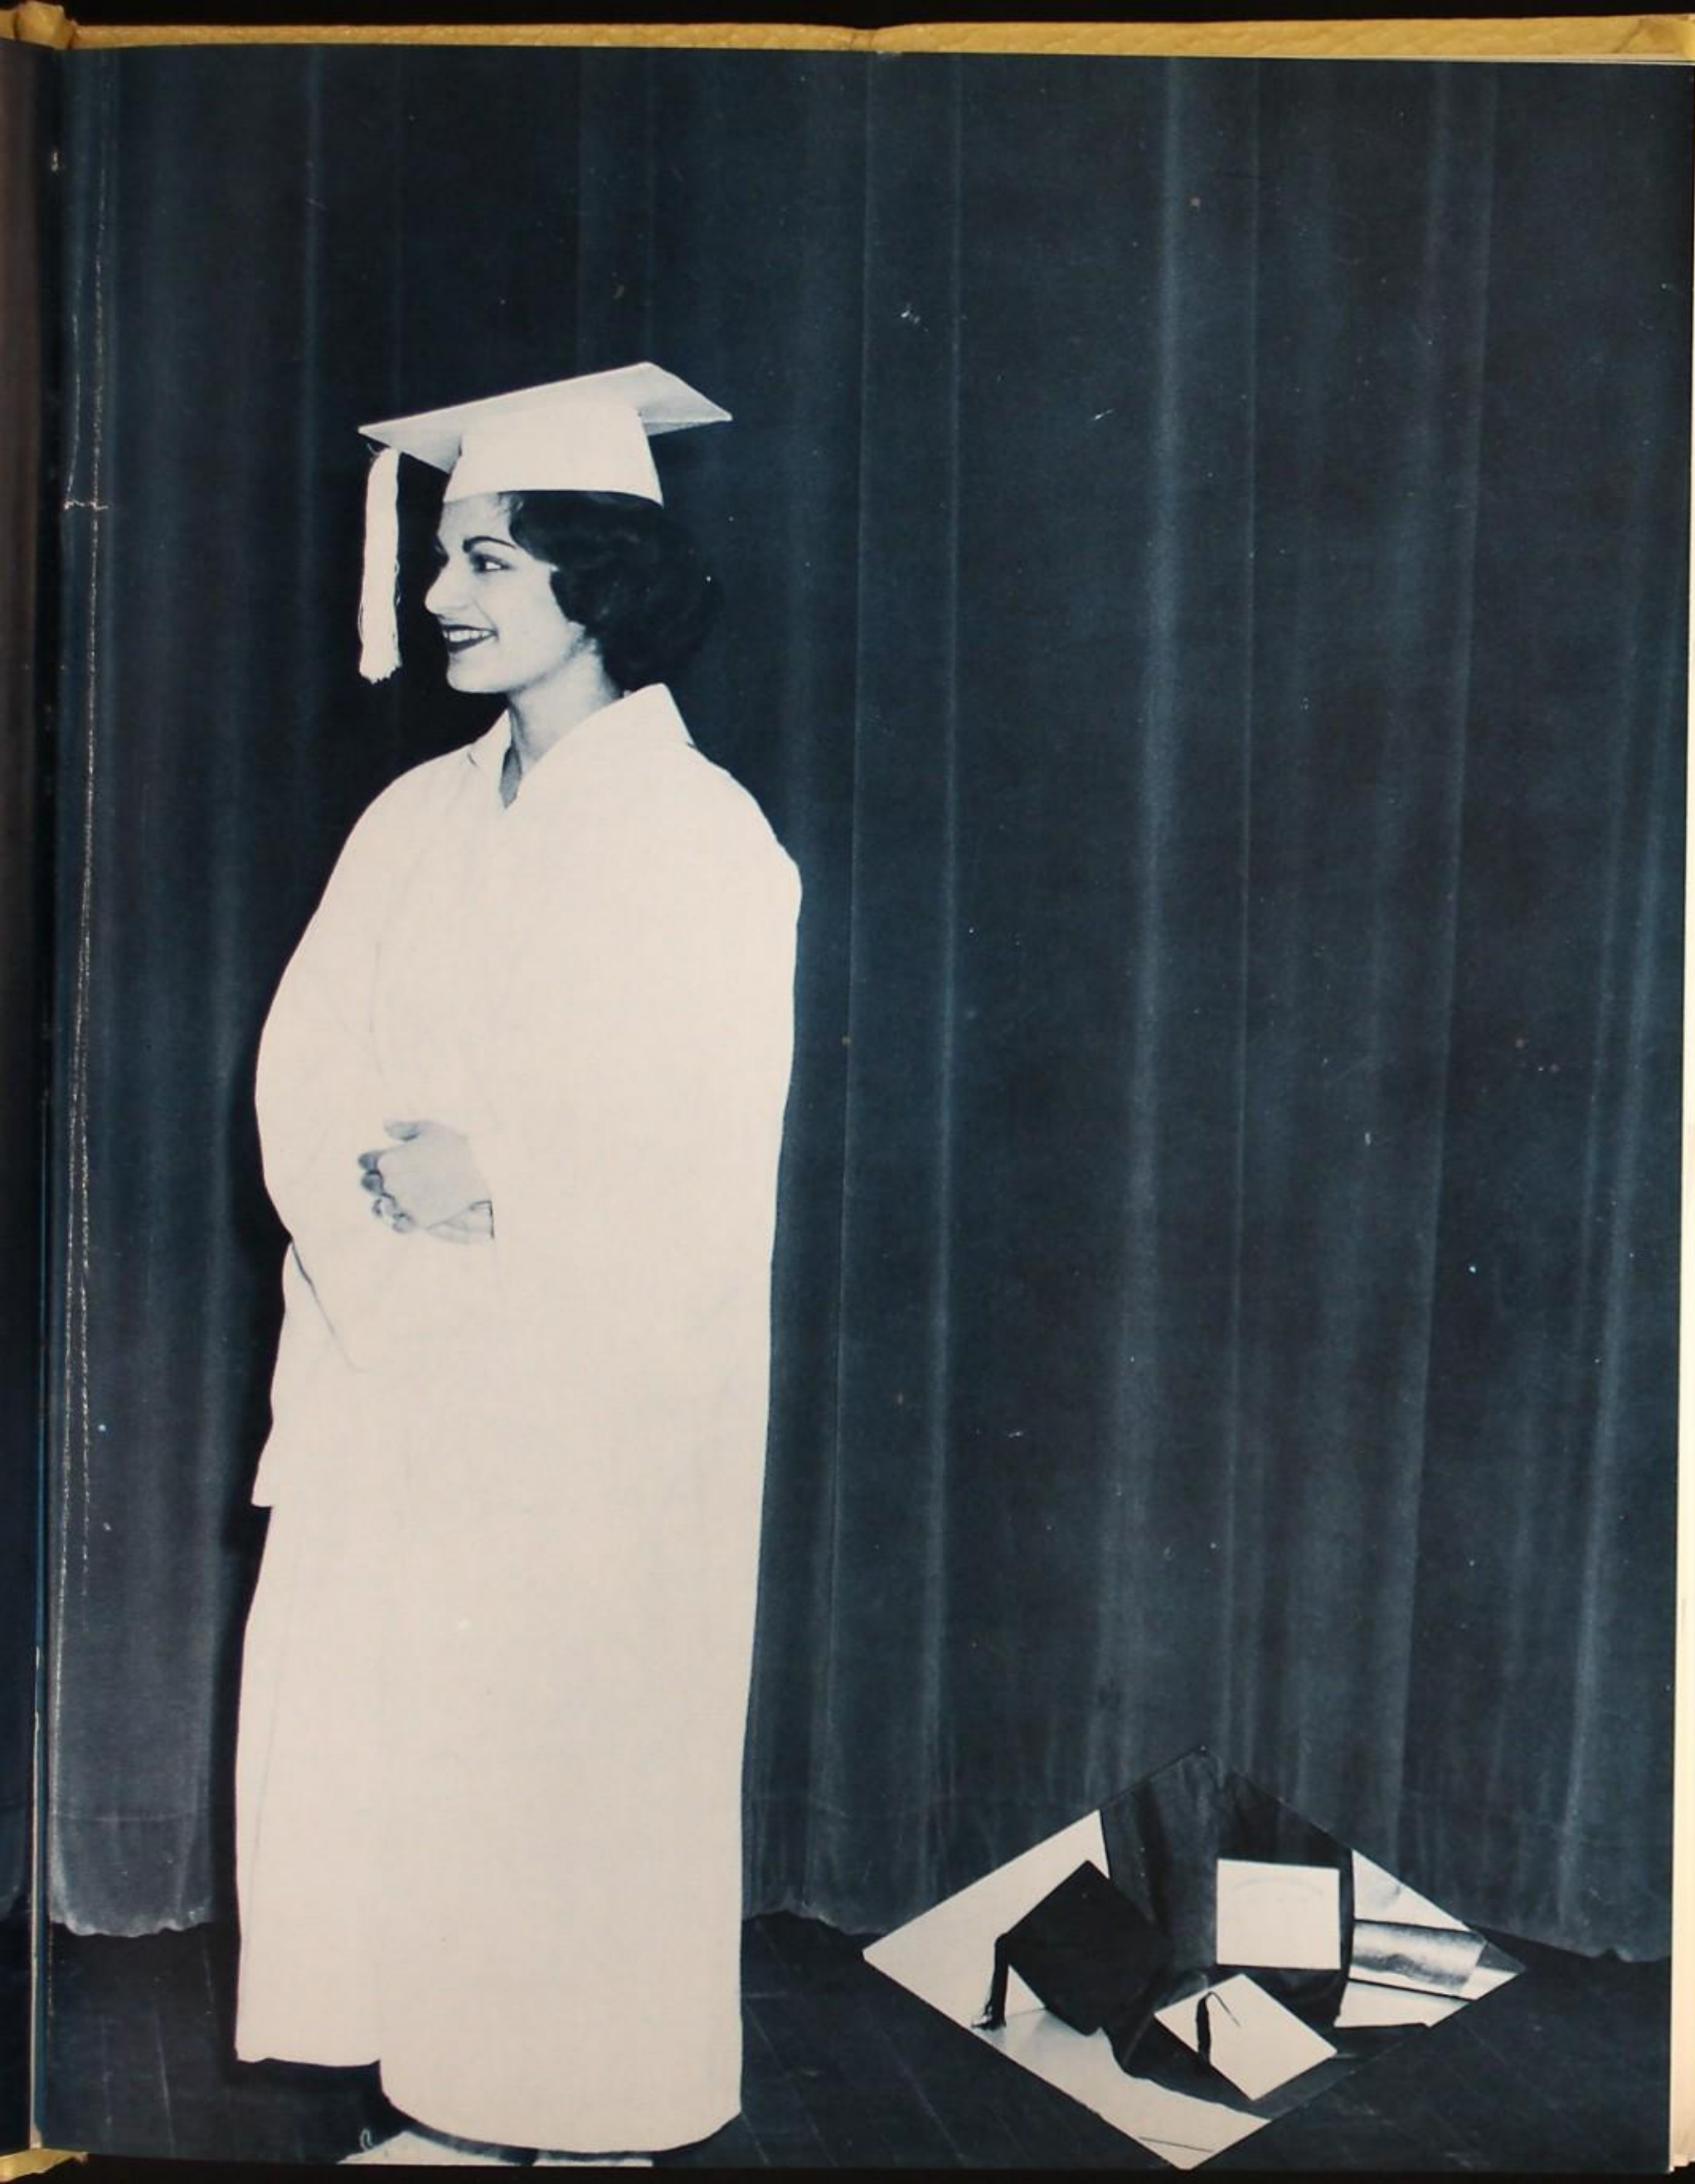
Mr. Pryor back after a short "vacation."

A math class under the direction of Mr. Purcell.



Mr. Sholtis presides over a study hall.

Concentration invoked by Mr. Andreone.



After all is said and done,
You must admit we had some fun.
The road was very rough to trod,
But we were guided by the hand of God.
Our teachers held a magic light,
That helped us back to find new might.
The months went by so very fast,
We wish that they could last and last
We read the paper and the latest news,
Which gave us gossip and sincere views.
We were always late to class,
It's a wonder that we ever passed!
The only thing that troubled us,
Was staying for the late, late bus.
The Senior Prom was a touch of art.
It captured each and every heart.
Graduation harbored untold pleasures.
This was a portion of wonderous treasures.

Remember the hours filled with laughter,
The many things we'll recall thereafter?
Although we'll go our separate ways,
We're bound to meet in future days.
And, so it is we all must part,
Severed in hand but not in heart.

Dramatics Club

The Dramatics Club is a great asset to our school in the field of entertainment. Each year the club puts on a play, which requires a lot of work from the members who do their jobs as actors, actresses, producers, directors, and stagehands. This year the production was "The Curious Savage," which was an excellent play and turned out well.

Our Foreign

JAN BERG

I live in the village of Biri, about 80 miles north of Oslo. This village is so small that you will probably not find it on the map, but it lies between two towns, Gjovik and Lillehammer. I belong to what I will call an average Norwegian family. There are four of us, my mother, my father, my sister, and myself. My sister and I go to school in Sjovik, the nearest town. It is not a very large school. There are only 700 students.

I find that the churches and schools here in the United States differ greatly from those in Norway. We do not go to high school before we have passed through seven years of elementary school. In our high school we have no opportunity to choose what subjects we want to take. Everybody has to take the same courses. Another difference is that we go to school six days a week with one Monday each month off from school. I think that we have about the same number of hours at school as you.

In my opinion "high school" in Norway is more difficult than here. A Norwegian student has to take more foreign languages and math as compared to an American student. I have for instance taken six years of German, two years of math.

The church life is the second thing I have found so entirely different. In my country we have a state church which is Lutheran. Here the religion is more a part of the daily life than it is in Norway. The church service is also much more informal here.

One of the things I like the best in America is the food. The chief reason is that my mother, Mrs. Butler, is such an excellent cook.

What I am not particularly fond of here are the Bermuda shorts. They are not, in my opinion, attractive.

Bicycles seem to be used rather little here as compared to Norway. If they go shopping, go to movies, or want to go somewhere else, the Norwegians, both old and young, use their bicycles. Among Norwegian kids, bicycle trips are very popular, even to foreign countries. I have myself been riding in Denmark and Sweden.

When I return to Norway, I have one year left in high high school. Afterward it is my plan to go to the University of Oslo to study languages.

In its attempt to make people from different countries understand each other better, I think that the American Field Service program has a great mission, and I am very thankful that I have this wonderful chance.

JOYCE SMOLENS

June 18, 1959 -- What a day! The S.S. "Zuidercruis" sailed away from New York with its eight hundred passengers waving excitedly, each straining his eyes for a last glimpse of family and friends.

It hardly seemed possible that the day had arrived and I was actually on my way, but as we came to deeper water my stomach reminded me of the fact with every roll of the ship.

During the first two days, most of us spent our spare time by the rail wondering if the rest of our voyage would make us as miserable as the beginning had, but we had no need to worry. The seasickness was only temporary, and it wasn't long before we could really start enjoying the trip.

On the third day out, when my stomach had settled down, I began to have fun which was to continue throughout the summer. I don't know exactly what I was expecting of Holland and my Dutch families, but I certainly never dreamed they'd be as wonderful as they were.

When we arrived at Rotterdam I found my Dutch sister waiting for me. We went directly to the Hague where my family lived, and I met my parents, brother, and little sister. These people were so kind and understanding that it took me only one day before I really felt like a member of the family. I came to love them very much, and it was very hard to leave them when my month's stay was over.

My second home was the small town of Oaster-Nijkerk in the north of Holland. Although it was difficult for me to leave my family in the city and make a brand new start, I soon found it worth it. I became acquainted with another type of living, I met many new people, and best of all I then belonged to two Dutch families instead of one.

Although my second family was quite different from my first, I again adjusted quickly, because of their warmth and understanding. Neither my mother nor my father in this family spoke English, but my sister translated for us. We soon discovered that language doesn't present as big a barrier as one might expect. By the end of August, my relationship with this family was as close as it had been with the other.

Leaving Holland was one of the most difficult things I've ever had to do, and judging from all the tears that were shed as our ship sailed from Rotterdam, my fellow exchange students felt the same as I did. We were filled with a new kind of spirit, though, which mixed joy with our sadness, and we said good-bye to Holland with shouts of "A.F.S., A.F.S." -- American Field Service -- an organization which had come to mean a great deal to us all.

Varsity Football

Unfortunately, the right spots in and about our Varsity Football Squad were few and far between.

Chester Wisniewski started the season off on the right foot by skirting 69 yards around the end on the first play from scrimmage against Mohonasen for a touchdown. Later in that game Corky La Hart scored a touchdown, but the Dutchmen lost in the last 30 seconds, 13-12.

After that initial loss the G.C. gridders never could get going again, being shut out in the remaining six games. They spent most of the season playing defense, but this had some good in it. Junior tackle Al Schoonbeck set two school records after playing on defense most of the time. During the season "Schoonie" made 75 tackles, 13 of which came in one game -- both school records. As a reward for this outstanding performance he was named to the first All-Suburban Council team picked by the sports editors of eight S.C. school papers.

Senior, Denny Borst, set the only other record when he punted the ball 60 yards in the Niskayuna game.

The Varsity Dutchmen

The Varsity Quintet at G.C. ended its season with a 4-13 win-loss record, but over 20 records were tied or bettered. John Schinnerer, the team captain, set three school marks himself in a season that was frequented by thrills and chills, victories and defeats. Every year Guilderland nearly upsets top-seeded Niskayuna or throws scares into offensive minded Columbia. Yes, it was actually a unique season, except Guilderland had difficulty finding mid-season victories. Perhaps the greatest moment during the season was when Chet came off the bench at Colonie with less than a few moments left and five points to score, but he came through with a 54-46 victory, or maybe Craig Farnsworth's seven consecutive foul shots against Mohanasen earning G.C.H.S. a 57-39 victory.

On March 22 the Girls' Athletic Association of Guilderland Central held a tumbling clinic. Every Suburban Council school except Colonie and Columbia participated. Neighboring Voorhesville also attended. Mr. Everett Kiff was the guest speaker.

On March 25 the annual gym demonstration by G.C. students took over the sports limelight. Presented for the fourth consecutive year, the gymnastics program was a complete success. Besides tumbling, stunts on the buck, parallel bars, traveling rings and springboard were exhibited. A new form of tumbling was also initiated.

The Varsity Cheerleading squad for 1959-60 was composed of three seniors and five juniors. Joyce Smolens and Lil Murrell, the squad's captains, and Bev Gillis were the seniors. Arlene Sroka, Barb Cook, Kathy Ertel, Sue Croote and Donna Dickerson were the five juniors. Each of the juniors were members of the J.V. squad during the '58-'59 school year.
